Several representations have been made of the croveral ment that this limiting date is too short and that it is takely to give rise to considerable hardship and inchoiven hence especially because of the long delays which often secur in arranging shipment of goods from toreign countries dovernment have given careful consideration to these reasonations and have, subject to what is stated in the 1st para of this communique now decided to extend to 1st December 1947 all hiences which are revalidated upto 1e 30th Sectember 1947. New hience valid upto the 80th eptember 1947 for goods ordered under Open General teeness. Now VII and VIII are also extended to 21m December 1947. The concession will apply to sences automatically revalidated up to the 30th. Sept.

Government desire to make it clear that the extensions wigners are final. The foreign exchange position of the intry continues to be difficult and does not admit of any axation in the measures of the Import Control. No ension will therefore be allowed beyond it exist Decem—1947 for any Lectures of the lategories rotationed in a 2 above.
